Cancellations and substitutions

Registrants should, if required, make any cancellation of their booking via their Hive digital platform (login required).

Cancellations will be acknowledged by PRI. It is the Registrant’s responsibility to check that their notice of cancellation has been acknowledged as this is confirmation that the cancellation has been received by PRI. Cancellation by a Registrant will not be valid unless it has been acknowledged by PRI.

Cancellations:

In-person Registrants - Cancellations for in-person Registrants received by PRI before Friday, 8 September 2023 23:59 BST are eligible for a full refund of the Fees from PRI, less an administration fee of 100 USD.

Cancellations received by PRI on or after Friday, 8 September for in-person tickets are non-refundable. The Conference takes place on specific dates, and therefore PRI will not be able to refund you where the Registrant does not attend or does not cancel in line with the above. This is because PRI will have reserved and set aside a specific place for the Registrant at the event which PRI will not be able to fill or resell.

Postponement or abandonment, Force Majeure

If PRI determines that it is not possible or reasonably practicable for the conference to take place as an 'in-person' conference for reasons beyond its control, for example significant external factors that warrant this course of action, including, but not limited to: the Covid-19 global pandemic; regional or global conflict or acts of war; industrial action or labour disputes; regulations or orders of government authorities; civil disorder; disasters; acts of terrorism; or acts of God (a "Force Majeure Event", such as, without limitation, fires, floods or emergency conditions). In all such circumstances, when it is necessary to change the Conference format, speakers, participants, content, venue and/or programme and/or any other aspect of the Conference or it becomes impossible to run the Conference, PRI is relieved of all obligations and does not take any responsibility for compensation, reimbursement of any additional expenses, inconvenience or loss of business that may be experienced by Registrants. PRI reserves the right to retain the Fees as a contribution to all venue and administrative costs incurred.

PRI may (in its sole discretion) change the format, speakers, content, venue location or any other aspect of the Conference at any time and for any reason, whether or not due to a Force Majeure Event, in each case without liability.

Substitutions and no-shows

Registrants no longer able to attend the Conference may nominate a colleague to attend at no charge, provided that the substitute meets any applicable eligibility requirements. Requests to transfer bookings should be made by email to events@unpri.org by Friday, 15 September 2023. Failure to do so will allow PRI to refuse entry to such substitute.

No refund is available to no-show Registrants.

All Registrants are responsible for ensuring they comply with necessary travel and entry visa and public health requirements, including, without limitation, any COVID-19-related temporary or permanent local and national public health requirements regarding travel and entry into and out of Tokyo.

In all such circumstances, PRI is relieved of all obligations and does not take any responsibility for compensation, reimbursement of any additional expenses, inconvenience or loss of business that may be experienced by Registrants.
